

FRENCH PROTECTORATE IN MOROCCO IS CERTAIN

Pressing Question Now Arises in Abrogation, Proposed in Paris, of Convention of 1880.

POWERS INTERESTED ARE 14

Abolition of Consular Courts and of Protection to Individual Natives by Each of the Signatories Asked For.

Paris, Sept. 21.—The interview yesterday between the French Ambassador to Germany, M. Cambon, and the German Minister of Foreign Affairs, Herr von Kiderlen-Waechter, confirmed the French impression of the conciliatory disposition of the German government and heightened the prospect of an early arrangement regarding Morocco.

The Cabinet will meet to-morrow and examine the latest suggestions from Berlin, which it is expected, will be received here by courier to-morrow.

Price for Closing Its Eyes.

It is understood here that the German Foreign Minister is authorized to recognize French political preponderance in Morocco and also to accept the commercial equality of all the powers under the French protectorate.

Another and even more pressing question arises from the Madrid Convention of 1880. That conference of the powers, including the United States, France, Germany, Austria, Great Britain, Italy, Russia, Spain, the Netherlands, Belgium, Sweden, Norway, Denmark and Portugal, accorded to each signatory the right to have in Morocco twenty-five natives directly protected.

Further, any commercial concern of any signatory power, whether it had branches in Morocco or not, was to have the right to have two protected agents in Morocco.

To Abolish Consular Courts.

France now demands abolition of this protection and also of the consular courts. Germany is said to object on the ground that if it consented it would be hoodwinked in case the other powers refused to follow.

In an agreement can be reached on the subject of the consular courts and with respect to the recompense due to Germany for giving way to France in troublesome matters, all will come to an end, and there will remain only the task of obtaining the consent of the other powers to convert the sovereign state of Morocco into what is virtually a French colony.

Berlin, Sept. 21.—The Minister of Foreign Affairs, Herr von Kiderlen-Waechter, and the French Ambassador, M. Cambon, conferred again to-day on the compromise proposals regarding the economic status of Morocco, further progress toward the settlement of which is reported.

A report from Tangier that another German detachment had been landed at Agadir was officially denied here to-day.

The "Nachrichtliche Allgemeine Zeitung," calling attention to unfavorable reports abroad as to German financial conditions, points out that the recent breaks in prices in German stock markets were merely a repetition of what had gone before on the Paris, London and New York exchanges.

BANK OF ENGLAND RATE UP

Minimum Raised from 3 to 4 Per Cent. Despite Cheap Money.

London, Sept. 21.—The Bank of England today increased its rate of discount from 3 to 4 per cent.

London, Sept. 21.—The Bank of Belgium today increased its rate of discount from 4 to 5 per cent.

Vienna, Sept. 21.—The Bank of Austria today increased its discount rate from 4 to 5 per cent.

WAL ENGINE EXPLODES

Six Killed and Marquis Imperial, Inventor, with 15 Others, Badly Hurt.

London, Sept. 21.—A war engine invented by Marquis Imperial, while undergoing tests at Monmouth to-day, exploded, killing six and badly injuring sixteen.

STOKES IS OUT OF DANGER.

W. E. D. Stokes, the proprietor of the Atlantic, who was taken suddenly ill while en route to London, is reported to be out of danger, according to his physician, Dr. M. A. Strum.

CYRIL MAUDE AS RIP

English Actor in Fine Rendering of Jefferson's Old Part.

London, Sept. 21.—Austin Strong's version of "Rip Van Winkle," produced at the Playhouse to-night, transformed Jefferson's tender idyl of the Catekill into a fantasy of forest life with mysterious gnomes and superficial morals.

REVEALS HICHENS'S CO-AUTHOR

Actor Says Mary Anderson Helped Dramatize "The Garden of Allah."

According to Arthur Lewis, who is to have a part in Liebler's production, "The Garden of Allah," the co-dramatist with Robert Hichens, author of the dramatized novel, is Mary Anderson. The name of the person who helped Mr. Hichens in fitting his book into dramatic form has been kept secret.

Mr. Lewis said yesterday on his arrival from Glasgow on the Anchor liner Cameronia that the name of the unknown person was Mary Anderson. The secret was disclosed accidentally by the explanation of Mr. Lewis that Mary Anderson, the co-author with Mr. Hichens, had coached him in the part he is to play.

NEW USE FOR GARRICK THEATRE

Charles Frohman Takes It for an "Overflow House."

Charles Frohman yesterday decided to employ the Garrick Theatre in a unique way. It is Mr. Frohman's intention to duplicate his successful New York productions at once at the Garrick Theatre, even when this means the presentation of the same play at two different New York theatres.

Speculation in Options.

After Thomas Magee, of California, who hired a wherry, got down the side of the Olympic while she was at anchor last night and succeeded when he reached the shore in securing passage on the Adriatic, speculation immediately began in options on the fifth passage.

Representative Says Best Man to Succeed Taft Is Taft.

Representative Nicholas Longworth, accompanied by his wife, daughter of ex-President Roosevelt, sailed yesterday on the steamship Albatross, of the United Fruit Company, for Colon.

WEDDINGS.

Miss Jane Evelyn Spill and Henry L. Vonderhies, circulation manager of "McCall's Magazine," were married yesterday at the Erieck Church, Fifth avenue and 57th street.

TENNIS DOUBLES AT NEWPORT

First and Second Rounds in Mixed Contests Played Off.

Newport, Sept. 21.—A handicap mixed doubles lawn tennis tournament was started on the Casino courts this morning, and by afternoon the first and second rounds had been disposed of.

Little Hope for Devlin

Carl E. Peck, acting president of Hardman, Peck & Co., piano manufacturers, whose skull was fractured when a timber fell on him at the firm's new plant, is reported to be doing well at the Roosevelt Hospital last night.

Doctors Say Injured Fire Chief Probably Will Die.

Battalion Chief William Devlin, who received serious internal injuries when he fell from the roof of a three-story building at No. 56 Broome street when fighting a fire there on Wednesday night, is reported to be in a critical condition at St. Vincent's Hospital last night.

Charles D. Norton Not Ill.

Dispatches from Chicago published yesterday said that Charles D. Norton, vice-president of the First National Bank of New York, was in a hospital in that city.

Justice Day's Wife Still Ill.

Canton, Ohio, Sept. 21.—Although there has been no material change to-day in the condition of Mrs. Day, wife of Justice William Day, she is reported to be better at the opening of the United States Supreme Court October 1, unless a decided improvement for the better is taken by Mrs. Day.

WAL ENGINE EXPLODES

Six Killed and Marquis Imperial, Inventor, with 15 Others, Badly Hurt.

London, Sept. 21.—A war engine invented by Marquis Imperial, while undergoing tests at Monmouth to-day, exploded, killing six and badly injuring sixteen.

STOKES IS OUT OF DANGER.

W. E. D. Stokes, the proprietor of the Atlantic, who was taken suddenly ill while en route to London, is reported to be out of danger, according to his physician, Dr. M. A. Strum.

BOGROFF'S ACCOMPLICE

A SUICIDE ON SEPT. 8

Stolypin's Murderer, It Appears, Stepped Into Shoes of Man Arrested by Police.

COURT MARTIAL PROCEEDS

Muravioff Took His Life in Col. Kuliabko's Office, Whereon Actual Assassin Proffered Services to Frustrate Plot.

St. Petersburg, Sept. 21.—The court martial of Dmitry Bogroff, the assassin of Premier Stolypin, which began at Kiev to-day, will set forth that Bogroff had an accomplice named Muravioff, who committed suicide under mysterious circumstances on September 8 in the office of Colonel Kuliabko, chief of the secret service police.

A few hours after the suicide, the indictment against Bogroff and his accomplice was to the police to frustrate an attempt to murder Stolypin. The original plan provided for the killing of the Premier by Muravioff, Bogroff was to supervise the crime, and when Muravioff was taken into custody by the police Bogroff took his place.

The inquiry is being conducted personally by the Minister of Justice, Mr. Stekolnikov. Already there are indications of many ramifications and complexity on the part of prominent officials. Great sensations than those so far published are promised. M. Verigin, Vice-Director of the Department of Police, is under strong suspicion by the authorities, who hold that he is in a measure responsible for the outrage.

Will Be Patched Up.

As soon as her cargo has been put ashore the Olympic will be patched up sufficiently to enable her to proceed under her own steam to the great drydock at Belfast, the only one in the world large enough to accommodate her.

Dependent on "Famous" Man.

Mr. Flexner said it was unfortunate that medical schools were established to a large degree for clinical instruction on men who had become "famous" through holding hospital appointments. One way to build up a large practice, he said, was to get a hospital appointment. The man in such a position was usually more concerned with the increasing practice and large income than with his work as an instructor.

Dependent on "Famous" Man.

Mr. Flexner said it was unfortunate that medical schools were established to a large degree for clinical instruction on men who had become "famous" through holding hospital appointments. One way to build up a large practice, he said, was to get a hospital appointment. The man in such a position was usually more concerned with the increasing practice and large income than with his work as an instructor.

Dependent on "Famous" Man.

Mr. Flexner said it was unfortunate that medical schools were established to a large degree for clinical instruction on men who had become "famous" through holding hospital appointments. One way to build up a large practice, he said, was to get a hospital appointment. The man in such a position was usually more concerned with the increasing practice and large income than with his work as an instructor.

Dependent on "Famous" Man.

Mr. Flexner said it was unfortunate that medical schools were established to a large degree for clinical instruction on men who had become "famous" through holding hospital appointments. One way to build up a large practice, he said, was to get a hospital appointment. The man in such a position was usually more concerned with the increasing practice and large income than with his work as an instructor.

Dependent on "Famous" Man.

Mr. Flexner said it was unfortunate that medical schools were established to a large degree for clinical instruction on men who had become "famous" through holding hospital appointments. One way to build up a large practice, he said, was to get a hospital appointment. The man in such a position was usually more concerned with the increasing practice and large income than with his work as an instructor.

Dependent on "Famous" Man.

Mr. Flexner said it was unfortunate that medical schools were established to a large degree for clinical instruction on men who had become "famous" through holding hospital appointments. One way to build up a large practice, he said, was to get a hospital appointment. The man in such a position was usually more concerned with the increasing practice and large income than with his work as an instructor.

Dependent on "Famous" Man.

Mr. Flexner said it was unfortunate that medical schools were established to a large degree for clinical instruction on men who had become "famous" through holding hospital appointments. One way to build up a large practice, he said, was to get a hospital appointment. The man in such a position was usually more concerned with the increasing practice and large income than with his work as an instructor.

Dependent on "Famous" Man.

Mr. Flexner said it was unfortunate that medical schools were established to a large degree for clinical instruction on men who had become "famous" through holding hospital appointments. One way to build up a large practice, he said, was to get a hospital appointment. The man in such a position was usually more concerned with the increasing practice and large income than with his work as an instructor.

Dependent on "Famous" Man.

Mr. Flexner said it was unfortunate that medical schools were established to a large degree for clinical instruction on men who had become "famous" through holding hospital appointments. One way to build up a large practice, he said, was to get a hospital appointment. The man in such a position was usually more concerned with the increasing practice and large income than with his work as an instructor.

Dependent on "Famous" Man.

Mr. Flexner said it was unfortunate that medical schools were established to a large degree for clinical instruction on men who had become "famous" through holding hospital appointments. One way to build up a large practice, he said, was to get a hospital appointment. The man in such a position was usually more concerned with the increasing practice and large income than with his work as an instructor.

Dependent on "Famous" Man.

Mr. Flexner said it was unfortunate that medical schools were established to a large degree for clinical instruction on men who had become "famous" through holding hospital appointments. One way to build up a large practice, he said, was to get a hospital appointment. The man in such a position was usually more concerned with the increasing practice and large income than with his work as an instructor.

"PARADISE JIMMY" BURIED

Crowds Fill Church and Witness Long Funeral Procession.

The mid-afternoon crowds at the approach to the Williamsburg Bridge yesterday swelled into thousands, requiring police attention, when a black-dressed hearse coming down the bridge entered a long lane formed by a double line of bare-headed men, passed through it and out on the Williamsburg Bridge, followed by a few carriages.

NAVAL INQUIRY IMPENDING

Stalled Passengers Offer Large Premiums for Accommodation on Other Boats.

Southampton, Sept. 21.—The divers engaged to-day in making an examination of the White Star liner Olympic, which was rammed by the British cruiser Hawke, reported extensive injuries below the waterline. They found that the hole below the Olympic's waterline is much bigger than that above. This was due to the shape of the Hawke's ram, which is especially designed to sink ships.

The damage done to the cruiser's hull also was found to be very serious. It is estimated that twenty feet of the cruiser's bow will have to be replaced.

The Olympic left her anchorage in Southampton Water shortly after dawn to-day and, assisted by six powerful tugs, made her way toward the dock here, where she had left less than twenty-four hours before, bound for New York.

Great crowds watched the passage of the steamer into the harbor, while the passengers, who had spent a comfortable night aboard, lined the rails. Special trains were waiting for the first and second class passengers, a majority of whom were going to London to await the sailing of other vessels on which the company had obtained accommodations for them.

It is expected that all of these will get away within ten days. The American Line steamer St. Louis will take a few on Saturday, and others will go on the Holland-America steamer Noordam, sailing on Sunday, and on the White Star liners Arabic, sailing on Tuesday, the Maesener on Wednesday, and the American Line steamer New York, which will sail on Saturday, September 30. The third class passengers will proceed on the St. Louis and the Maesener.

Dependent on "Famous" Man.

Mr. Flexner said it was unfortunate that medical schools were established to a large degree for clinical instruction on men who had become "famous" through holding hospital appointments. One way to build up a large practice, he said, was to get a hospital appointment. The man in such a position was usually more concerned with the increasing practice and large income than with his work as an instructor.

Mr. Flexner said it was unfortunate that medical schools were established to a large degree for clinical instruction on men who had become "famous" through holding hospital appointments. One way to build up a large practice, he said, was to get a hospital appointment. The man in such a position was usually more concerned with the increasing practice and large income than with his work as an instructor.

Dependent on "Famous" Man.

Mr. Flexner said it was unfortunate that medical schools were established to a large degree for clinical instruction on men who had become "famous" through holding hospital appointments. One way to build up a large practice, he said, was to get a hospital appointment. The man in such a position was usually more concerned with the increasing practice and large income than with his work as an instructor.

Dependent on "Famous" Man.

Mr. Flexner said it was unfortunate that medical schools were established to a large degree for clinical instruction on men who had become "famous" through holding hospital appointments. One way to build up a large practice, he said, was to get a hospital appointment. The man in such a position was usually more concerned with the increasing practice and large income than with his work as an instructor.

Dependent on "Famous" Man.

Mr. Flexner said it was unfortunate that medical schools were established to a large degree for clinical instruction on men who had become "famous" through holding hospital appointments. One way to build up a large practice, he said, was to get a hospital appointment. The man in such a position was usually more concerned with the increasing practice and large income than with his work as an instructor.

Dependent on "Famous" Man.

Mr. Flexner said it was unfortunate that medical schools were established to a large degree for clinical instruction on men who had become "famous" through holding hospital appointments. One way to build up a large practice, he said, was to get a hospital appointment. The man in such a position was usually more concerned with the increasing practice and large income than with his work as an instructor.

Dependent on "Famous" Man.

Mr. Flexner said it was unfortunate that medical schools were established to a large degree for clinical instruction on men who had become "famous" through holding hospital appointments. One way to build up a large practice, he said, was to get a hospital appointment. The man in such a position was usually more concerned with the increasing practice and large income than with his work as an instructor.

Dependent on "Famous" Man.

Mr. Flexner said it was unfortunate that medical schools were established to a large degree for clinical instruction on men who had become "famous" through holding hospital appointments. One way to build up a large practice, he said, was to get a hospital appointment. The man in such a position was usually more concerned with the increasing practice and large income than with his work as an instructor.

Dependent on "Famous" Man.

Mr. Flexner said it was unfortunate that medical schools were established to a large degree for clinical instruction on men who had become "famous" through holding hospital appointments. One way to build up a large practice, he said, was to get a hospital appointment. The man in such a position was usually more concerned with the increasing practice and large income than with his work as an instructor.

Dependent on "Famous" Man.

Mr. Flexner said it was unfortunate that medical schools were established to a large degree for clinical instruction on men who had become "famous" through holding hospital appointments. One way to build up a large practice, he said, was to get a hospital appointment. The man in such a position was usually more concerned with the increasing practice and large income than with his work as an instructor.

Dependent on "Famous" Man.

Mr. Flexner said it was unfortunate that medical schools were established to a large degree for clinical instruction on men who had become "famous" through holding hospital appointments. One way to build up a large practice, he said, was to get a hospital appointment. The man in such a position was usually more concerned with the increasing practice and large income than with his work as an instructor.

"PARADISE JIMMY" BURIED

Crowds Fill Church and Witness Long Funeral Procession.

The mid-afternoon crowds at the approach to the Williamsburg Bridge yesterday swelled into thousands, requiring police attention, when a black-dressed hearse coming down the bridge entered a long lane formed by a double line of bare-headed men, passed through it and out on the Williamsburg Bridge, followed by a few carriages.

NAVAL INQUIRY IMPENDING

Stalled Passengers Offer Large Premiums for Accommodation on Other Boats.

Southampton, Sept. 21.—The divers engaged to-day in making an examination of the White Star liner Olympic, which was rammed by the British cruiser Hawke, reported extensive injuries below the waterline. They found that the hole below the Olympic's waterline is much bigger than that above. This was due to the shape of the Hawke's ram, which is especially designed to sink ships.

The damage done to the cruiser's hull also was found to be very serious. It is estimated that twenty feet of the cruiser's bow will have to be replaced.

The Olympic left her anchorage in Southampton Water shortly after dawn to-day and, assisted by six powerful tugs, made her way toward the dock here, where she had left less than twenty-four hours before, bound for New York.

Great crowds watched the passage of the steamer into the harbor, while the passengers, who had spent a comfortable night aboard, lined the rails. Special trains were waiting for the first and second class passengers, a majority of whom were going to London to await the sailing of other vessels on which the company had obtained accommodations for them.

It is expected that all of these will get away within ten days. The American Line steamer St. Louis will take a few on Saturday, and others will go on the Holland-America steamer Noordam, sailing on Sunday, and on the White Star liners Arabic, sailing on Tuesday, the Maesener on Wednesday, and the American Line steamer New York, which will sail on Saturday, September 30. The third class passengers will proceed on the St. Louis and the Maesener.

Dependent on "Famous" Man.

Mr. Flexner said it was unfortunate that medical schools were established to a large degree for clinical instruction on men who had become "famous" through holding hospital appointments. One way to build up a large practice, he said, was to get a hospital appointment. The man in such a position was usually more concerned with the increasing practice and large income than with his work as an instructor.

Mr. Flexner said it was unfortunate that medical schools were established to a large degree for clinical instruction on men who had become "famous" through holding hospital appointments. One way to build up a large practice, he said, was to get a hospital appointment. The man in such a position was usually more concerned with the increasing practice and large income than with his work as an instructor.

Dependent on "Famous" Man.

Mr. Flexner said it was unfortunate that medical schools were established to a large degree for clinical instruction on men who had become "famous" through holding hospital appointments. One way to build up a large practice, he said, was to get a hospital appointment. The man in such a position was usually more concerned with the increasing practice and large income than with his work as an instructor.

Dependent on "Famous" Man.

Mr. Flexner said it was unfortunate that medical schools were established to a large degree for clinical instruction on men who had become "famous" through holding hospital appointments. One way to build up a large practice, he said, was to get a hospital appointment. The man in such a position was usually more concerned with the increasing practice and large income than with his work as an instructor.

Dependent on "Famous" Man.

Mr. Flexner said it was unfortunate that medical schools were established to a large degree for clinical instruction on men who had become "famous" through holding hospital appointments. One way to build up a large practice, he said, was to get a hospital appointment. The man in such a position was usually more concerned with the increasing practice and large income than with his work as an instructor.

Dependent on "Famous" Man.

Mr. Flexner said it was unfortunate that medical schools were established to a large degree for clinical instruction on men who had become "famous" through holding hospital appointments. One way to build up a large practice, he said, was to get a hospital appointment. The man in such a position was usually more concerned with the increasing practice and large income than with his work as an instructor.

Dependent on "Famous" Man.

Mr. Flexner said it was unfortunate that medical schools were established to a large degree for clinical instruction on men who had become "famous" through holding hospital appointments. One way to build up a large practice, he said, was to get a hospital appointment. The man in such a position was usually more concerned with the increasing practice and large income than with his work as an instructor.

Dependent on "Famous" Man.

Mr. Flexner said it was unfortunate that medical schools were established to a large degree for clinical instruction on men who had become "famous" through holding hospital appointments. One way to build up a large practice, he said, was to get a hospital appointment. The man in such a position was usually more concerned with the increasing practice and large income than with his work as an instructor.

Dependent on "Famous" Man.

Mr. Flexner said it was unfortunate that medical schools were established to a large degree for clinical instruction on men who had become "famous" through holding hospital appointments. One way to build up a large practice, he said, was to get a hospital appointment. The man in such a position was usually more concerned with the increasing practice and large income than with his work as an instructor.

Dependent on "Famous" Man.

Mr. Flexner said it was unfortunate that medical schools were established to a large degree for clinical instruction on men who had become "famous" through holding hospital appointments. One way to build up a large practice, he said, was to get a hospital appointment. The man in such a position was usually more concerned with the increasing practice and large income than with his work as an instructor.

Dependent on "Famous" Man.

Mr. Flexner said it was unfortunate that medical schools were established to a large degree for clinical instruction on men who had become "famous" through holding hospital appointments. One way to build up a large practice, he said, was to get a hospital appointment. The man in such a position was usually more concerned with the increasing practice and large income than with his work as an instructor.

ATTACKS HOSPITAL MEN

Mr. Flexner, of Carnegie Fund, Thinks Doctors Lack Learning.

"Some progress has been made during the last year, as twenty medical schools in different parts of the country have been put out of business."

BLAMES MEDICAL SCHOOLS

Declares Twenty Undesirable Institutions Have Been Driven Out of Business in Last Year.

That was one of the statements made by Abraham Flexner, of the Carnegie Foundation, which caused a commotion among his listeners at the third day's session of the convention of the American Hospital Association at the Murray Hill Hotel yesterday.

Mr. Flexner read a paper on hospital education and research. The suppression of a score of "undesirable" medical schools within a year was generally credited to Mr. Flexner's report to the Carnegie Foundation a year ago after an exhaustive investigation of practically all the medical schools in this country.

Mr. Flexner again in his paper yesterday attacked the present day doctor and surgeon of the large hospitals as inefficient and in many instances not well educated, either for the profession or in a general way. There was a great lack of facilities and prizes offered to medical students by the hospitals, where they should get their principal training, he said, and, on the other hand, there were students from some medical schools who had access to hospital privileges, but who lacked the previous training to make competent physicians.

"Hospitals cannot substitute the purposes for which they are established unless well trained doctors can be found to man them," said Mr. Flexner. "Well trained doctors must be educated largely in hospital wards. If hospitals do not afford medical schools abundant facilities for clinical instruction to discharge the function for which they exist, and unless medical schools enjoy the untrammelled use of the hospitals, the hospitals the medical students cannot be properly educated, and both the hospital and the public will suffer from the lack of competent physicians and surgeons. The hospitals should do all or nothing in this respect, and not go half way about it."

Dependent on "Famous" Man.

Mr. Flexner said it was unfortunate that medical schools were established to a large degree for clinical instruction on men who had become "famous" through holding hospital appointments. One way to build up a large practice, he said, was to get a hospital appointment. The man in such a position was usually more concerned with the increasing practice and large income than with his work as an instructor.

Mr. Flexner said it was unfortunate that medical schools were established to a large degree for clinical instruction on men who had become "famous" through holding hospital appointments. One way to build up a large practice, he said, was to get a hospital appointment. The man in such a position was usually more concerned with the increasing practice and large income than with his work as an instructor.

Dependent on "Famous" Man.

Mr. Flexner said it was unfortunate that medical schools were established to a large degree for clinical instruction on men who had become "famous" through holding hospital appointments. One way to build up a large practice, he said, was to get a hospital appointment. The man in such a position was usually more concerned with the increasing practice and large income than with his work as an instructor.

Dependent on "Famous" Man.

Mr. Flexner said it was unfortunate that medical schools were established to a large degree for clinical instruction on men who had become "famous" through holding hospital appointments. One way to build up a large practice, he said, was to get a hospital appointment. The man in such a position was usually more concerned with the increasing practice and large income than with his work as an instructor.

Dependent on "Famous" Man.

Mr. Flexner said it was unfortunate that medical schools were established to a large degree for clinical instruction on men who had become "famous" through holding hospital appointments. One way to build up a large practice, he said, was to get a hospital appointment. The man in such a position was usually more concerned with the increasing practice and large income than with his work as an instructor.